| DEAR READERS,

This fall, we have put together a dramatic lineup of beautiful books that will help you understand our complex and changing world. Leading the charge is Women: The National Geographic Image Collection, which portrays the female experience around the globe across 130 glorious years of photographic history. Launching NatGeo's Year of the Woman initiative in 2020, it features penetrating interviews with a wide range of contemporary luminaries, including Oprah Winfrey, Nancy Pelosi, Jane Goodall, New Zealand prime minister Jacinda Ardern, and business titan Zhang Xin. In her introduction, Susan Goldberg, National Geographic's first female editor-in-chief, puts these arresting images in context, providing definitive proof that the future is female.

And that's not all the photography we have on offer. This season, our beloved Joel Sartore, creator of National Geographic's celebrated Photo Ark project, returns with Vanishing, his haunting exploration of the world's most endangered species. Build your own photography collection using Sartore's best tips, which can be found in our new how-to guide, Photo Basics.

Meanwhile, as the holiday season approaches, get ready to pack your bags with inspiration from some of our most exciting travel titles yet. Epic Journeys provides the ultimate bucket list for thrill seekers and adventurers, whether it's navigating class-five rapids in Guatemala or experiencing tantalizing dishes in Tokyo. Put it all in context with Geographic's landmark Atlas of the World; the new eleventh edition, featuring a fresh design, updated infographics, and more than 500 glorious maps, hits the shelves this fall.

Finally, when it comes to exploring the latest health trends, we have a winner in The Blue Zones Kitchen. In this lush cookbook, New York Times best-selling author Dan Buettner offers 100 recipes inspired by the Blue Zones—the regions of the world where people live the longest—to optimize your health and help you live to 100. Or, perhaps, far longer, as explained by veteran investigative journalist Chip Walter in Immortality, Inc., his compelling new narrative on Silicon Valley's quest to extend human life indefinitely.

As always, thank you for supporting National Geographic—our books and our mission.

Warmly,

LISA THOMAS

PLEASSED TO MEET ME

HOW GENES, GERMS, AND THE ENVIRONMENT
MAKE US WHO WE ARE

Bill Sullivan

Why are you attracted to a certain “type”? Why are you a morning person? Why do you vote the way you do? From a witty new voice in popular science comes a life-changing look at what makes you you.

“I can’t believe I just said that.” “What possessed me to do that?” “What’s wrong with me?” We’re constantly seeking answers to these fundamental human questions, and now, science has the answers. Clever, relatable, and revealing, this eye-opening narrative from Indiana University School of Medicine professor Bill Sullivan explores why we do the things we do through the lens of genetics, microbiology, psychology, neurology, and family history. From what we love (and hate) to eat and who we vote for in political elections to when we lose our virginity and why some people find drugs so addicting, this illuminating book uses the latest scientific research to unveil the secrets of what makes us tick. Filled with fascinating insights—including how experiences that haunted our grandparents echo in our DNA, why the bacteria in our guts mess with our minds, and whether there really is a “murder gene”—Pleased to Meet Me explains the hidden forces shaping who we are, pointing us on a path to how we might become our best selves.

WILLIAM SULLIVAN, JR., PHD, is a professor at the Indiana University School of Medicine. He has been researching and teaching about infectious disease for more than 20 years and has published nearly 70 peer-reviewed scientific journals and textbooks. Sullivan obtained his doctorate in cell and molecular biology from the University of Pennsylvania and has been praised in student evaluations for making lectures on antibiotics “wildly entertaining.” He lives in Indianapolis, Indiana, with his wife and two children.

WOMEN: THE NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC IMAGE COLLECTION

National Geographic, with an introduction by Susan Goldberg

This powerful photography collection drawn from the celebrated National Geographic archive celebrates the lives of women from around the globe, accompanied by revelatory new interviews and portraits of contemporary trailblazers including Oprah Winfrey, Nancy Pelosi, and Christiane Amanpour.

#MeToo. #GirlBoss. Time's Up. From Silicon Valley to politics and beyond, women are reshaping our world. Now, in anticipation of the 100th anniversary of the 19th amendment, this bold and inspiring book from National Geographic mines 130 years of photography to showcase their past, their present, and their future.

With 300+ stunning images from more than 50 countries, each page of this glorious book offers compelling testimony about what it means to be female, from historic suffragettes to the haunting, green-eyed "Afghan girl." Organized around chapter themes like grit, compassion, and joy, the book features brand-new commentary from a wide swath of luminaries including Laura Bush, Gloria Allred, Roxane Gay, Melinda Gates, New Zealand prime minister Jacinda Ardern, and the founders of the #MeToo and Black Lives Matter movements. Each is accompanied by a bold new portrait, shot by acclaimed NG photographer Erika Larsen.

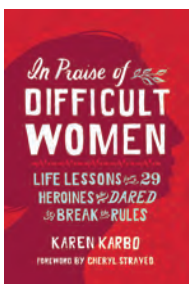

SUSAN GOLDBERG is Chief Content Officer of National Geographic Partners and editor-in-chief of National Geographic magazine. She is the 10th editor of the magazine since it was first published in October 1888, and its first female editor. In 2017, under her leadership, National Geographic was a finalist for the Pulitzer Prize for Explanatory Reporting for its issue about gender. Previously, Goldberg was executive editor for federal, state, and local government coverage in Bloomberg News, and held major roles at USA Today, the San Jose Mercury News, and the Cleveland Plain Dealer. In 2013, she was voted one of Washington's 11 most influential women in the media by Washingtonian magazine.

IN CONVERSATION WITH CHRISTIANE AMAMPOUR

On Forbes magazine's 2018 list of the world's most powerful women, only two are ranked above Christine Lagarde: Germany's Chancellor Angela Merkel and Britain's Prime Minister Theresa May. While those two led their nations, Lagarde was shaping the finances of 189 nations, members of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) where she's been managing director since 2011. As a teen, Lagarde swam for her native France on its synchronized swimming team. In her early 40s, she became the first female to chair the world's largest law firm, Baker & McKenzie. Under Lagarde, Forbes wrote, "the IMF has navigated the eurozone debt crisis, managed emerging market risks and the threat of a U.S. trade war with China." Now in her second five-year term heading the IMF, Lagarde has denied sexism and sexual harassment in male-dominated realms, and the gender pay gap.

CL: I think the most important thing that should happen is that there be many more women in positions of authority and power.

public and private sectors alike, in the developed and developing worlds. If you give me a second choice, I would say: at least seven years, if not more, of quality education for all girls, particularly in the least developed countries.

SG: Because women who have education make better choices?

CL: Because young girls with education will find themselves with more parity with boys. We observe, in the economic research that we do, that they will tend to marry later in life, and as a result will typically have fewer children in the

THE LENS

Retset Elephant Sanctuary lies in a thorny scrubland in northern Kenya—home to Samburu people. Nearly all of Retset's staff come from neighboring communities—and all are Samburu. Together with other ethnic groups, including Turkana, Rendile, Borneo, and Somali communities, the sanctuary strives to about 5,000 elephants that live in the area. Here, Mary Longeneo, one of Retset's first female elephant keepers, caresses Sulyen, the first sanctuary resident. Sulyen was rescued in September 2016 when she was just four weeks old. What's happening at Retset is nothing less than the beginnings of a transformation in the way the Samburu relate to the wild animals they have long feared. ■

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC ATLAS OF THE WORLD, ELEVENTH EDITION

National Geographic, with a foreword by Alex Tait

Created for all global citizens, this universally respected volume of world maps has been completely revised and updated with fascinating visualizations of international trends and global conditions.

National Geographic's flagship Atlas of the World, now in its 11th edition, provides authoritative maps of every country, ocean, and region of the world, as well as thematic maps and accompanying graphics showing important population, environmental, and economic patterns. Organized by continent and reflecting today's political boundaries and identities, this authoritative atlas is an indispensable reference for schools and libraries, as well as the latest resource for home browsing and study. A thematically organized opening section uses current data to visualize urgent concerns, such as Earth's last wild places, changing fresh-water availability, human migration and refugee movement, and human rights conditions globally. The back of the book contains basic facts and flags of every country, as well as a comprehensive index cross-referencing more than 150,000 place names.

With more than a century of mapmaking experience, NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC continues to be one of the world's preeminent cartographic publishers. The new 11th edition atlas is produced by a deeply experienced editorial and cartographic team, in collaboration with preeminent scientists, scholars, and researchers, continuing a legacy of publishing quality atlas products that combine the art and science of mapmaking.

ALEXANDER M. TAIT, M.Sc., is The Geographer at the National Geographic Society. He heads National Geographic's Map Policy Committee, leads mapping initiatives for Nat Geo Labs, and provides mapping and geography expertise for programs and media throughout National Geographic. He has worked as a cartographer at the Washington Post, a lecturer at the University of Maryland, and adviser to legal teams on the UN Convention on the Law of the Sea.

THE WORLD'S MOST VULNERABLE ANIMALS

Joel Sartore, with a foreword by Elizabeth Kolbert

Joel Sartore's quest to photograph all the animal species under human care celebrates its 15th year with this glorious and heartwrenching collection of photographs. The animals featured in these pages are either destined for extinction or already extinct in the wild but still alive in captivity today, thanks to the dedication of a heroic group committed to their continued survival. From the majestic Sumatran rhinoceros to the tiny Salt Creek tiger beetle, Sartore's photographs bring us eye to eye with the kaleidoscopic diversity of shapes, colors, personalities, and attitudes of the animal world.

Alongside these indelible images are the words of scientists and conservationists who are working to protect and restore populations of endangered species. With Sartore's distinctive portrait photography, he invites us to look closer—and to care more.

JOEL SARTORE is a photographer, author, and 30-year contributor to National Geographic magazine, and was named 2018 National Geographic Explorer of the Year. Through his National Geographic Photo Ark project, he plans to photograph every species of animal under human care, an estimated 12,000. (As of February 2018, he has photographed nearly 8,000.)

ELIZABETH KOLBERT is a staff writer for The New Yorker. Her most recent book, The Sixth Extinction, received the Pulitzer Prize for general nonfiction in 2015. She is also the author of Field Notes From a Catastrophe: Man, Nature, and Climate Change. A two-time National Magazine Award winner, Kolbert is a visiting fellow at the Center for Environmental Studies at Williams College.

IMMORTALITY, INC.

RENEGADE SCIENTISTS, SILICON VALLEY TITANS, AND THE QUEST TO CHEAT DEATH

Chip Walter

This gripping narrative explores today's scientific pursuit of immortality, with exclusive visits inside Silicon Valley labs and interviews with the visionaries who believe we will soon crack the aging process and cure death.

We live in an age when billionaires are betting their fortunes on laboratory advances to prove aging unnecessary and death a disease that can be cured. Researchers are delving into the mysteries of stem cells and the human genome, discovering what it means to grow old and how to keep those processes from happening. This isn't science fiction; it's real, it's serious, and it's on track to revolutionize our definitions of life and mortality.

In Immortality, Inc., veteran science journalist Chip Walter gains exclusive access to the champions of this radical cause, delivering a book that brings together for the first time the visions of molecular biologist and Apple chairman Arthur Levinson, genomics entrepreneur Craig Venter, futurist Ray Kurzweil, rejuvenation trailblazer Aubrey de Grey, and stem cell expert Robert Hariri. Along the way, Walter weaves in fascinating conversations about life, death, aging, and the future of the human race.

CHIP WALTER is a science journalist, filmmaker, and former CNN bureau chief whose books include Last Ape Standing and Thumbs, Toes, and Tears. His writing has appeared in The Economist, The Wall Street Journal, Scientific American, and National Geographic, to which he contributed the January 2015 cover story "The First Artists." He has been interviewed on "All Things Considered" and Michio Kaku's "Science Fantastic."

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC ATLAS OF THE NATIONAL PARKS

Jonathan Waterman

The first book of its kind, this stunning atlas showcases America's spectacular park system from coast to coast, richly illustrated with an inspiring and informative collection of maps, graphics, and photographs.

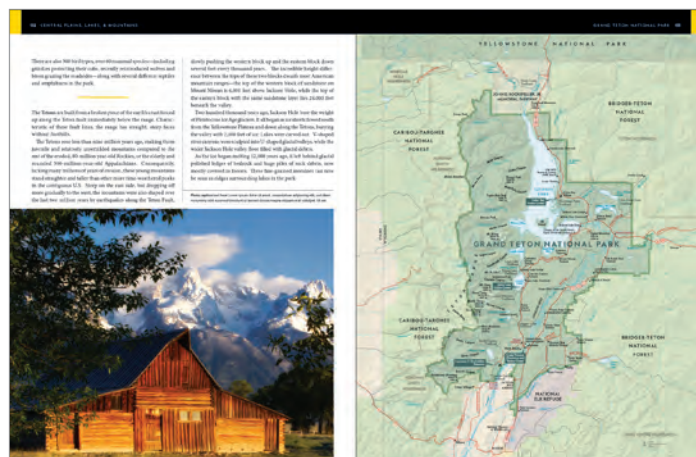

From the white sand beaches of Dry Tortugas to the snowy peaks of Denali, this captivating book combines authoritative park maps with hundreds of graphics and photographs to tell the stories of America's sixty beloved national parks. Former ranger and author Jonathan Waterman introduces readers to the country's scenic reserves and highlights the extraordinary features that distinguish each: magnificent landmarks, thriving ecosystems, representative wildlife, fascinating histories, and more. With striking imagery and state-of-the-art graphics reflecting details of wildlife, climate, culture, archaeology, recreation, and more, this lush reference provides an up-close look at what makes these lands so special.

JONATHAN WATERMAN is an award-winning author, filmmaker, and adventurer who has received three grants from the National Geographic Society Expeditions Council. In addition to exploring and documenting various parts of the United States, he is a former ranger for the National Park Service and a longtime wilderness guide. His writing has appeared in the Washington Post, the New York Times, Adventure, Outside, and Backpacker and his books include Running Dry, In the Shadow of Denali, Where Mountains Are Nameless, and Arctic Crossing, among others.

GALAXIA

THE ULTIMATE VISUAL GUIDE TO THE UNIVERSE

National Geographic, with a foreword by Chris Hadfield

This compelling visual journey through our galaxy combines more than 350 photographs, illustrations, and graphics to present the universe as you've never seen it before.

Galaxia is a deep dive into the past, present, and future of our home galaxy, the Milky Way. In this mind-expanding visual tour through the cosmos, spectacular photographs are converted into interpretive graphics, starting with the sun and moving outward into space where stars are born, black holes lurk, and planets of diverse size and anatomy spin through their orbit. The final chapters locate our galaxy within the known universe and add a scintillating peek of other exoplanets in the cosmos. Detailed maps and fascinating imagery from recent space missions are paired with clear, authoritative scientific information.

One of the world's leading nonfiction publishers, NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC has published more than 1,700 titles, featuring such categories as history, travel, nature, photography, space, science, health, biography, and memoir. A portion of its proceeds is used to fund exploration, conservation, and education through ongoing contributions to the work of the National Geographic Society.

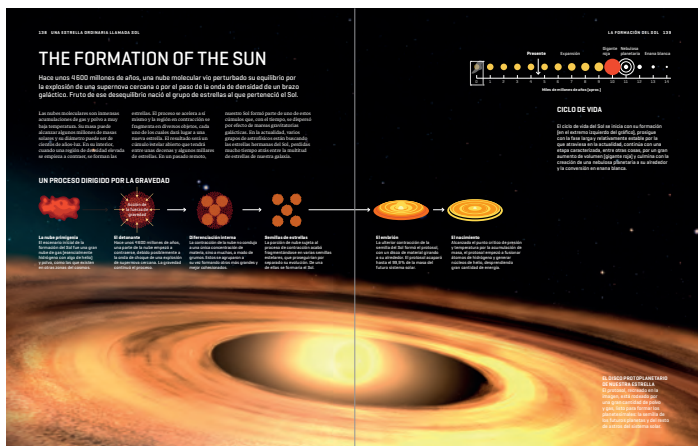

CHRIS HADFIELD, the first Canadian astronaut to space walk, served as Commander of the International Space Station in 2013. His books, photographs, and videos chronicling his voyages in space have made Hadfield a celebrity around the world.

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC ILLUSTRATED TIME LINES OF HISTORY

National Geographic, with a foreword by Amy Briggs

Sweeping but succinct, this comprehensive reference presents all of world history in a browsable format featuring more than three dozen maps, along with hundreds of photographs and illustrations. From the dawn of humankind to today's global complexities, this book provides a compelling reminder that history is unfolding all around us.

The epic story of humanity on all seven continents is explored through a unique design that combines concise essays with expansive time lines that invite deeper reading on milestone moments, explained within the broader context of the era. The final chapter highlights such recent events as SpaceX's heavy rocket launch, the restoration of U.S./Cuba relations, and the historical trends that were the precursors to the state of our world today.

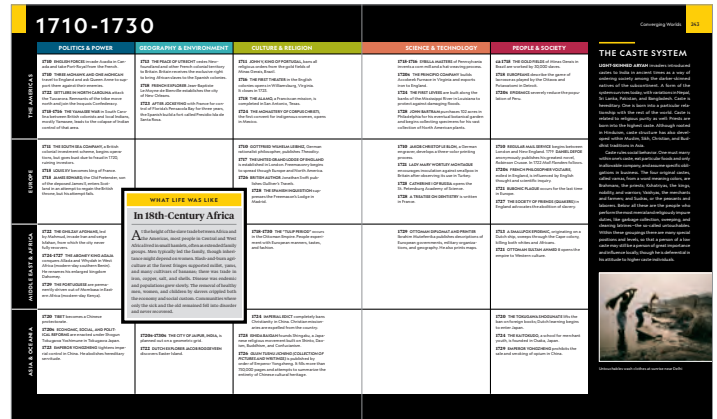

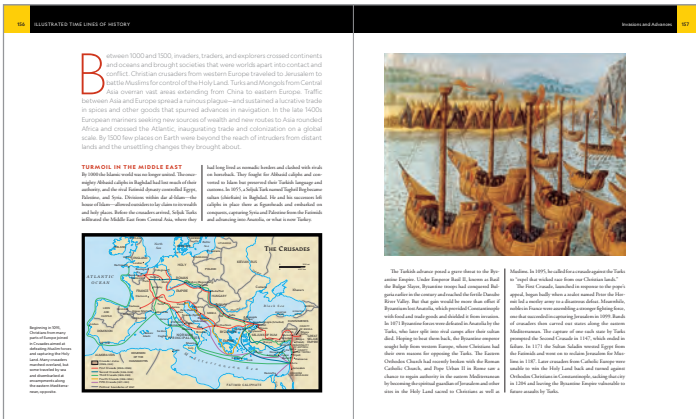

One of the world's leading nonfiction publishers, NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC has published more than 1,700 titles, featuring such categories as history, travel, nature, photography, space, science, health, biography, and memoir. A portion of its proceeds is used to fund exploration, conservation, and education through ongoing contributions to the work of the National Geographic Society.

AMY BRIGGS is the executive editor of National Geographic History magazine. Prior to her three years as executive editor, Briggs spent more than 15 years in book publishing with a focus on nonfiction. She is the author of several books including two National Geographic Kids books, National Geographic: Angry Birds Space and National Geographic: Angry Birds Star Wars.

Joel Sartore, with Heather Perry

For digital camera and smartphone users, this fun, easy how-to guide reveals the essentials of taking great pictures from an experienced National Geographic photographer.

Written by Joel Sartore, acclaimed photographer and founder of the Photo Ark, this entertaining book shows aspiring photographers how to take great pictures, from framing and F-stops to editing and archiving. Whether you're using your phone or a DSLR camera, you'll learn the fundamentals of photography—and how to put them to work every day.

In a series of short lessons, Sartore explains the basics, from how to choose a camera and gear to understanding focus, exposure, composition, and lighting. Using examples from his own work, he applies the basic rules of photography to family, pet, travel, nature, and street photos.

Throughout the book you'll find pro tips, quick assignments, smartphone ideas, and behind-the-camera stories. Fun and informative, this book will be your gateway to picture-taking success!

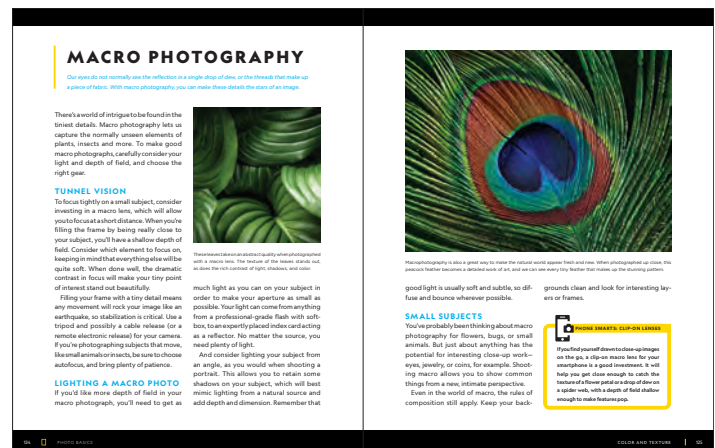

JOEL SARTORE brings a sense of humor and a midwestern work ethic to everything he does, including more than 30 assignments and 4 books for National Geographic, his wildly popular photography courses with The Teaching Company, and his celebrated National Geographic Photo Ark initiative.

HEATHER PERRY is a photographer whose work has been published in National Geographic, the New York Times, the Wall Street Journal, and more.

THE BLUE ZONES KITCHEN

100 RECIPES TO LIVE TO 100

Dan Buettner

Building on decades of research, longevity guru and best-selling author Dan Buettner has gathered 100 recipes inspired by the Blue Zones, home to the healthiest and happiest communities in the world. Each dish—for example, Sardinian Herbed Lentil Minestrone; Costa Rican Hearts of Palm Ceviche; Cornmeal Waffles from Loma Linda, California; and Okinawan Sweet Potatoes—uses ingredients and cooking methods proven to increase longevity, wellness, and mental health. Complemented by mouthwatering photography, the recipes also include lifestyle tips (including the best times to eat dinner and proper portion sizes), all gleaned from countries as far away as Japan and as near as Blue Zones project cities in Texas. Innovative, easy to follow, and delicious, these healthy-living recipes make the Blue Zones lifestyle even more attainable—improving your health, extending your life, and filling your kitchen with happiness.

DAN BUETTNER is the founder of Blue Zones, an organization that helps Americans live longer, healthier lives. His groundbreaking work on longevity led to his 2005 National Geographic cover story “Secrets of Living Longer” and a second, “The Search for Happiness,” in 2017. Buettner has authored three national bestsellers: The Blue Zones, Thrive, and The Blue Zones Solution. He is also the author of The Blue Zones of Happiness (2017) and is a National Geographic Explorer.

BACKYARD GUIDE TO THE BIRDS OF NORTH AMERICA, SECOND EDITION

Jonathan Alderfer and Noah Strycker

Geared to the casual and experienced birdwatcher alike, this completely revised guide reveals the most ubiquitous and remarkable species of North American birds, clearly organized by family and paired with identification tips, behavior, vocal descriptions, and more. The new edition features a “Backyard Basics” section from the world’s most prolific birdwatcher, Noah Strycker, with tips on attracting and feeding your favorite birds and creating bird-friendly landscapes. Also included are updated descriptions of 150 common North American species, paired with comprehensive range maps, as well as lush identification artwork and bite-size facts.

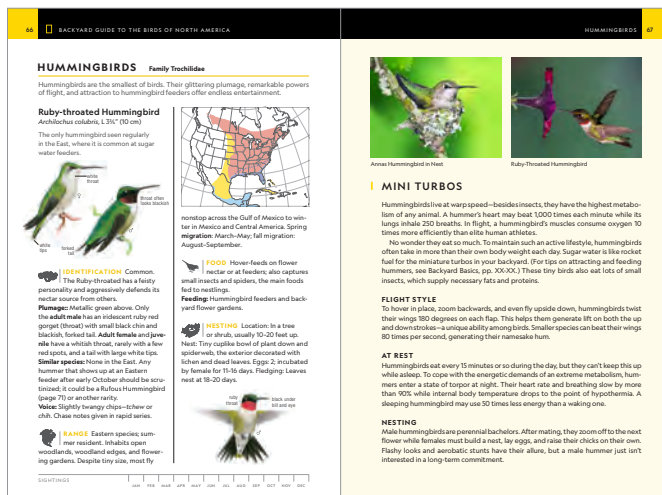

JONATHAN ALDERFER is a nationally known bird artist and author who has worked on a number of National Geographic’s birding books. His previous titles for National Geographic include the Field Guide to the Birds of North America, Field Guide to the Birds of Eastern North America, Field Guide to the Birds of Western North America, Illustrated Birds, Birding Essentials, and Complete Birds of North America.

NOAH STRYCKER is an associate editor of Birding magazine and the author of several books. He has studied birds worldwide and works as a guide on expedition cruises to Antarctica and the Arctic, spreading the inspiration of birds from pole to pole. In 2015, during a quest spanning 41 countries and all seven continents, he set a world record by seeing 6,042 species of birds—more than half the birds on Earth—in one year. Strycker writes, lectures, and lives near Eugene, Oregon, between field seasons.

PLUCKED

CHICKEN, ANTIBIOTICS, AND THE FUTURE OF MEAT

Maryn McKenna

NOW IN PAPERBACK

Published in 2017 as Big Chicken, this eye-opening expose is now in paperback and retitled Plucked. It documents how antibiotics transformed chicken from local delicacy to industrial commodity and human health threat, unveiling the ways we can make America's favorite meat safer again.

Consumed more than any other meat in the United States, chicken is emblematic of today's mass food-processing practices and its profound influence on our lives and health. Renowned health journalist Maryn McKenna traces chicken's meteoric rise from scarce treat to ubiquitous global commodity. She reveals the astounding role of antibiotics in industrial farming, documenting how and why "wonder drugs" revolutionized the way the world eats—and not necessarily for the better. Rich with scientific, historical, and cultural insights, this spellbinding cautionary tale shines a light on one of America's favorite foods—and shows us the way to safer, healthier eating for ourselves and our children.

MARYN MCKENNA is an award-winning journalist and the author of two critically acclaimed books, Superbug and Beating Back the Devil. She writes for Wired, National Geographic, Scientific American, Slate, Nature, The Atlantic, the Guardian, National Geographic magazine's online science salon Phenomena, and other publications, and is a senior fellow of the Schuster Institute for Investigative Journalism at Brandeis University.
