LAURA INGALLS WILDER:

PRAIRIE TO PAGE

TUE 29TH, 8 P.M.

PIONEER WOMAN

American Masters — Laura Ingalls Wilder: Prairie to Page

Tue 29th, 8 p.m.

THE LITTLE HOUSE BOOK SERIES by Laura Ingalls Wilder has been a favorite of children, teachers, and parents around the world for over 80 years. Young readers are spellbound by the plucky heroine and her life on the frontier. For teachers, the autobiographical coming-of-age novels set across the Midwest in the late 1800s are the perfect primer on the settling of America, written by someone who was there.

soared to even greater heights of popularity in the 1970s and 80s thanks to the Emmy-winning TV series that continues to enjoy a devoted fan following today, including self-proclaimed Bonnetheads. Laura Ingalls Wilder and the Little House books have also inspired museums, libraries, a U.S. postage stamp, stage adaptations, historic highways, a LauraPalooza conference attended by fans and scholars, and a crater on Venus.

As Wilder fans celebrate the 85th anniversary of the publication of Little House on the Prairie, American Masters is pleased to premiere Laura Ingalls Wilder: Prairie to Page.

Directed and produced by Emmy® Award winner Mary McDonagh Murphy (Harper Lee: American Masters), the film explores the cultural legacy and com-

“WHEN YOU READ WILDER’S BOOKS AS AN ADULT, YOU FIND MORE DEPTH, YOU FIND MORE SADNESS, YOU FIND MORE REALITY IN HER BOOKS.” —Pamela Smith Hill, author, Laura Ingalls Wilder: A Writer’s Life

The eight bestselling novels—originally published in the 1930s and 1940s, with a ninth book published posthumously—plicated history of the unlikely author—a Midwestern farm woman who published her first novel at age 65—and reveals how she transformed her early life into enduring legend, a process that involved a little-known collaboration with her daughter Rose.

Victor Garber narrates, with Tess Harper as the voice of Old Laura and Amy Brenneman as Rose.

Featuring never-before-published letters, photographs and family artifacts, the documentary explores the context in which Wilder lived and wrote, as well as the true nature of her personality. Wilder’s life differed greatly from the Laura we see in her books and the TV series.

Original interviews include Caroline Fraser, who won a Pulitzer Prize for Prairie Fires: The American Dreams of Laura Ingalls Wilder; Wilder historian William Anderson; authors Louise Erdrich, Roxane Gay, Lizzie Skurnick, and Newbery Award winner Linda Sue Park; and actors from the beloved TV series Little House on the Prairie, including Melissa Gilbert (Laura Ingalls Wilder), Alison Arnglim (Nellie Oleson), and Dean Butler (Almanzo Wilder).

Though Wilder’s stories emphasized real life and celebrated stoicism, she omitted the grimmer and contradictory details of her personal history: grinding poverty, government assistance, deprivation, and the death of her infant son. Laura Ingalls Wilder: Prairie to Page reveals the truth behind the bestsellers, and also offers historical perspective from scholars on Wilder’s racist depictions of Native American and Black people, which have stirred controversy in recent years and made her less appealing to some readers, teachers, and librarians.

“I am constantly amazed by how much more there is for me to learn about Ingalls because I’ve had the opportunity to come at the Little House story from so many different angles in so many different ways,” Melissa Gilbert said in a recent interview.

The Real Bedford Falls: It's A Wonderful Life

Fri 18th, 10:30 p.m.

FRANCIS DICLEMENTE

WAS THE TOWN OF SENECA FALLS the inspiration for Bedford Falls, the setting of It's A Wonderful Life? Find out in this documentary, which celebrates the enduring themes of Frank Capra's holiday classic and examines small-town life in the upstate New York community that has striking similarities to the film's setting. Interviews include stars from the 1946 movie, film critic Leonard Maltin, Monica Capra Hodges—Frank Capra's granddaughter—and others. NBC Today show legend Bob Dotson narrates.
