3. The treatment record should contain the following information:
 - a) Treatment date
 - b) Animal or group identification
 - c) Approximate weight of animal or group average
 - d) Product administered
 - e) Product lot/serial number
 - f) Earliest date the animal could clear withdrawal time
 - g) Dose given
 - h) Route of administration (IM, SQ, etc.)
 - i) Location of injections
 - j) Name of person who administered the drug

A copy of the appropriate records should be made available to the buyer of your cattle or as they are transferred from one unit of your ranch to another. Records should include all individual and group treatment/processing history and other information as deemed appropriate.
